

Carl is a highly experienced and accomplished Security professional with over 30 years of experience in high-risk, diverse environments. He has led many events, specialist operations, and strategic work programmes.

A qualified expert with the National Protective Security Authority and Cabinet Office, Carl served 27 years in Law Enforcement. Carl was at the forefront of incident response with SO15 and led the counter-terrorism response vehicle before becoming the National Head of Government Health Security.

Now an independent consultant, Carl also brings specialist knowledge and experience in mental health and secure transport solutions, as well as in delivering bespoke training (such as search techniques).